Note to Reader

In keeping with other Maa-nulth property tax legislation, the Real Property Tax Act sets out the legal framework for the collection of property taxes on Huu-ay-aht Treaty Lands. The British Columbia Assessment Authority provides property assessments for taxable property on Treaty Lands. Executive Council establishes tax rates to raise revenue from property owners based on the assessed value of their property.

Properties exempt from taxation and the powers of Executive Council to exempt additional properties are set out in this Act. In addition, the Act allows for grants to taxpayers in financial need.

Under this Act, the Executive Director prepares a tax roll for the tax year and sends tax notices to owners of taxable property. Property taxes must be paid before July 2 each year to avoid penalties and interest. Unpaid taxes may be collected as a debt due to the Huu-ay-aht and become a lien on the land or improvements.

The Huu-ay-aht Taxation Authority is established under this Act to review tax regulations, tax budgets and tax rates established by Executive Council. One member of the Huu-ay-aht Taxation Authority is a non-citizen who holds an interest in Treaty Lands.
