

Huu-ay-aht Forestry Principles

Managing forest and fishery values to meet present needs without compromising the needs of future Huu-ay-aht generations (for example: securing cedar needs).

Managing forests based on Huu-ay-aht values “Hišuk ma c’awak” (everything is one).

Balancing forest values to meet economic and cultural needs of peoples within the ḥahuuṭi of the Huu-ay-aht Ha’wiiḥ, including the Huu-ay-aht First Nations peoples.

Restoring the damaged ecologies and 35 watersheds within the ḥahuuṭi of the Huu-ay-aht Ha’wiiḥ.

Conserving biological diversity, soil, water, fish, wildlife, scenic diversity and other forest resources within the ḥahuuṭi of the Huu-ay-aht Ha’wiiḥ.

h u u a y a h t

ANCIENT SPIRIT, MODERN MIND