

Greetings to all from Sandy and Jen! We are returning to Port Alberni from the afternoon on Sunday, January 22, 2023 to January 24, 2023 at noon to meet privately and confidentially with anyone who is willing to share their stories and/or information with us. As you know, the Panel of Inquiry has been set up to look into misconduct by public officials and we hope that more people will come forward to us with information to assist us in our inquiry.

We have arranged to meet with people in a private space, away from government offices and are available during the day and into the evenings to accommodate those with work and family commitments. We can assist with arranging emotional and/or cultural support for anyone who wants/needs it to assist them in coming forward. We can also assist with any other supports that people may need to assist them in meeting with us. We want to reassure everyone that the names of anyone who speaks to us and any information that we receive will remain strictly confidential.

Please reach out to us directly either by telephone or email:
